While a junior in college, Bruce Culpepper's professor urged him to set his sights higher and learn to lead, so he did...all the way to the top of Shell Oil, where he became U.S. country chair and president.